Retour sur Noël 2008 Un remerciement très sincère

À une âme généreuse,

Dans les moments difficiles, il est toujours agréable de se faire surprendre par un si beau geste. Même si ces occasions de bonté semblent de plus en plus rares dans le monde actuel, parfois il suffit d'une seule occurrence pour redonner espoir. Sans trop élaborer, je voudrais tout simplement vous dire merci pour votre générosité qui n'est pas passée inaperçu et ne sera pas oubliée.

Une étudiante du collège.

Cozy Reads for Long Nights

As the winter months continue and the nights remain dark and cold, why not snuggle up with a good read to relax you at the end of the day? Here are some titles from the library that can transport you far past our Montreal snowdrifts.

The Republic of Love* – Carol Shields

Tom and Fay are two lovers ...without love. As their still-young lives steadily progress towards a point where they believe singledom will be their ultimate fate, Fay buries herself into her study of mermaids and Tom whiles away the hours as a late-night radio host to fill up the emptiness that engulfs them. Nevertheless, they still, independently, hold on to the belief that true love – that found in books of long ago – does still exist. After tiring of their respective relationships and adjusting to quiet, simple lives, they happen to bump into each other amid birthday balloons and rain. What ensues is a touching romance, offset by the characters around them who equally fumble their way through what it means to marry, love, love too much, and love too little.

Carol Shields won the Pulitzer Prize for The Stone Diaries, a novel firmly planted in the modern Canadian canon.

The Shipping News* – E. Annie Proulx

Amid a bustling city in the United States, Quoye stands apart as an awkward giant. Coming from hearty old Maritime stock, he lives as a misfit until he is seemingly embraced by a woman. Hungry for acceptance and love, he overlooks her horrible demeanour and lack of morality until one day he finds himself achingly heartbroken with two young daughters on his hands. With the help of his aunt, Quoye leads the odd foursome to Newfoundland to try and reclaim a life. The harsh landscape and hard-as-bone characters he meets, along with his new job, help him regain a sense of self, especially once he dares to believe that love can exist as something much gentler than that which he was previously given.

The Shipping News won the Pulitzer Prize, the National Book Award, and the Irish Times International Fiction Prize. E. Annie Proulx is also the author of the short story "Brokeback Mountain," upon which the movie of the same name was based (starring the late Heath Ledger and Jake Gyllenhaal).

I Know This Much Is True* – Wally Lamb

"On the afternoon of October 12, 1990, my twin brother Thomas entered the Three Rivers, Connecticut Public Library, retreated to one of the rear study carrels, and prayed to God the sacrifice he was about to commit would be deemed acceptable." So begins the latest life blow for Dominick, a man who has already lost much in his life – a job, love, a wife, and a daughter. With the increasing difficulty brought on by his brother, Dominick again finds himself with the ground slipping away from under him until he slowly starts to unburden his soul and meet the demons of his past in a much-needed healing process. As he starts to trust life once again, he realizes that much needs to be undone before things can be put right in this tapestry of redemption.

I Know This Much Is True was a #1 New York Times Bestseller, and is part of Oprah's Book Club.
